J., and piles of freight are evidence of the month-long dock strike—longest and costliest in Atlantic Coast maritime history. The striking longshoremen from Maine to Virginia voted Jan. 23 on a peace pact—already accepted by the shippers—which would end the tieup.

East Coast Dockers Prepare To Return

NEW YORK (AP) — A record 32-day dock strike of East and Gulf Coast ports neared an end Wednesday, with the first of 610 idle ships expected to begin moving within 48 hours.

A vast log jam of millions of dollars worth of stranded cargo was due to start breaking up once the vessels began weighing anchor. However, it was expected to take three to five days for such major ports as New York to return to normal.

Waterfront peace moved a big step nearer during the day as New Orleans shipowners fell in line with a government-outlined 37-cent-an-hour contract pattern.

There had been some concern last Southern ports balked at the settlement formula, which was expected to add $28 million a year to industry cost sheets in New York alone.

Shipowners from Virginia to Maine already were committed to the master contract, worked out by a three-man presidential board headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. However, local issues could delay the strike's end in some ports.

Costliest Strike

Losses to the shipping industry in the longest, costliest strike in Atlantic maritime history neared the $750 million mark.

Also needed before the strike's end was ratification of the settlement terms by 60,000 striking members of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association, whose leaders accepted the peace terms last Sunday. Most of the votes were expected to be in by Thursday night, with endorsement on all but foreign conclusion.

Salinger In New York For Talks On Newspaper Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — White House press secretary Pierre Salinger arrived quietly in New York Wednesday to see if he could do anything about the city's 47-day newspaper blackout.

"I know he is interested in the newspaper strike," said federal mediator Stephen I. Schomburg, in confirming that Salinger was in town.

Salinger's arrival coincided with the renewal for the first time in a week of joint negotiations in the dispute. He took no direct part in them.

No progress came out of the talks, which were resumed late in the day until Thursday. State mediator Vincent D. Mc Donnell told newsmen: "The position of the parties remains the same."

Salinger slipped into New York on Tuesday night at the request of Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz.

Not Insigated By JFK

In Washington, Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, said President Kennedy was aware of Salinger's mission, but had not instructed him, nor delegated Salinger to represent him.

"I don't think there is any way you can call this specific White House intervention. Mr. Salinger is well known in the newspaper world and his ideas concerning this may be of interest to a great many people," Hatcher added.

Salinger's visit was described as an outgrowth of a speech he made in Philadelphia last Friday, in which he called newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland intolerable. Salinger suggested that a study group of outsiders look into the industry's economics before some newspapers were forced out of business.

New York publishers replied that the proposal seemed to offer no quick solution to the local newspaper blackout.

During the day, a New York citizens newspaper committee, which describes itself as a neutral group interested only in the public

HEADS TOGETHER — Michael Quill, left, international president of the Transport Workers Union, and James Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, put their heads together in conference in Philadelphia as Hoffa pledged his union's support in the TWU strike against the Philadelphia Transportation Company. The bulk of the city's public transportation—buses, subways and elevated lines—have been shut down for nine days.

Follows Franco-German Treaty:

Powers To Restudy ECM Membership For Britain

PARIS (AP)—France and West Germany agreed Wednesday to patch temporarily their split on British membership in the European Economic Community by submitting the issue to the Common Market Commission in Brussels for study.

This is the gist of a procedural accord reached by President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in talks which led to their signing Tuesday of a treaty for diplomatic, defense and cultural cooperation between their two nations.

Adenauer expressed hope on his return to Bonn that the cooling off period would lead to a solution. He sidestepped questions as to whether he had asked De Gaulle to take a more conciliatory attitude.

"We must be calm and patient," he told a news conference. "The more wind we make, the higher the flames will jump."

The chancellor praised the new Franco-German pact, designed to bury centuries-old enmities, as a prerequisite for further progress toward a united Europe.

"I am convinced that we have done a good and great work for our two countries," Adenauer said.

French sources said the Common Market Commission, headed by Prof. Walter Hallstein of West Germany, will be asked to examine the British issue and report back to the six Common Market foreign ministers on the chances of success in subsequent negotiations between the six and Britain.

The commission, the permanent executive agency of the Common Market, will be asked to strike a balance sheet on points of agreement and disagreement in the lengthy, complicated talks and to suggest possible solutions for the impasse.

The agreement on procedure did not affect the substance of the respective positions of Paris and Bonn. West Germany still favors full membership for Britain. France opposes it. Neither is obligated to accept the commission's findings.

The spotlight will switch to Brussels next Monday when the six ministers resume debate on a French motion to suspend the negotiations with Britain. As before, British negotiator Edward Heath will be outside the ministerial chamber.

Instead of another five-to-one vote on French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville's motion, the ministers will call in Hallstein.

From a West German viewpoint, this avoids any immediate dramatic rupture and theoretically will prolong the negotiations with Britain until the new French-West German treaty clears the West German Parliament. A breakup in Brussels could jolt Adenauer politically, for a strong Parliament majority favors British entry into the economic community.

Scranton Predicts More Current Budget Deficits

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton contended Wednesday the state may face an additional $2½ million shortage on top of a $32 million deficit he said faces the state at the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

The governor told a news conference that the additional deficiency may develop in public assistance expenditures before the current fiscal period expires.

He said last week that the state faced a $32 million deficit. He ordered stringent measures to offset the project shortage.

Technically, the state cannot run a deficit, but in such areas as public assistance the state maintains payments, even when appropriated funds are not available, and the legislature makes up the shortage with a so-called deficiency appropriation.

Would Raise Deficit

Last week the governor said the expected deficiency for public assistance would be $10 million. His statement Wednesday indicated a possible total of $12.5 million, raising the projected deficit to $34.5 million.

At the same time the governor and Martin Brackbill, budget secretary, confirmed that the state had loaned some $40 million from the general fund to the highways fund for road construction.

The money was loaned to the highways unit prior to the new administration. Some $10 million has been repaid. However, Brackbill said the loan did not affect the state's deficit picture, since the money will be repaid.

In other developments: Department of municipal affairs — Scranton declined to put a price tag on the proposed department of municipal affairs pending formation of his budget for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

He said the agency would supplement, but not replace, federal government activity on urban affairs, such as mass transit problems and urban renewal.

Highway safety — A highway safety program will be formed when his appointment of E. Wilson

Purdy, St. Petersburg, Fla., is confirmed by the Senate as state police commissioner.

Police commissioner — The governor denied that he ever promised any police organization to name a Pennsylvanian to the state police post.

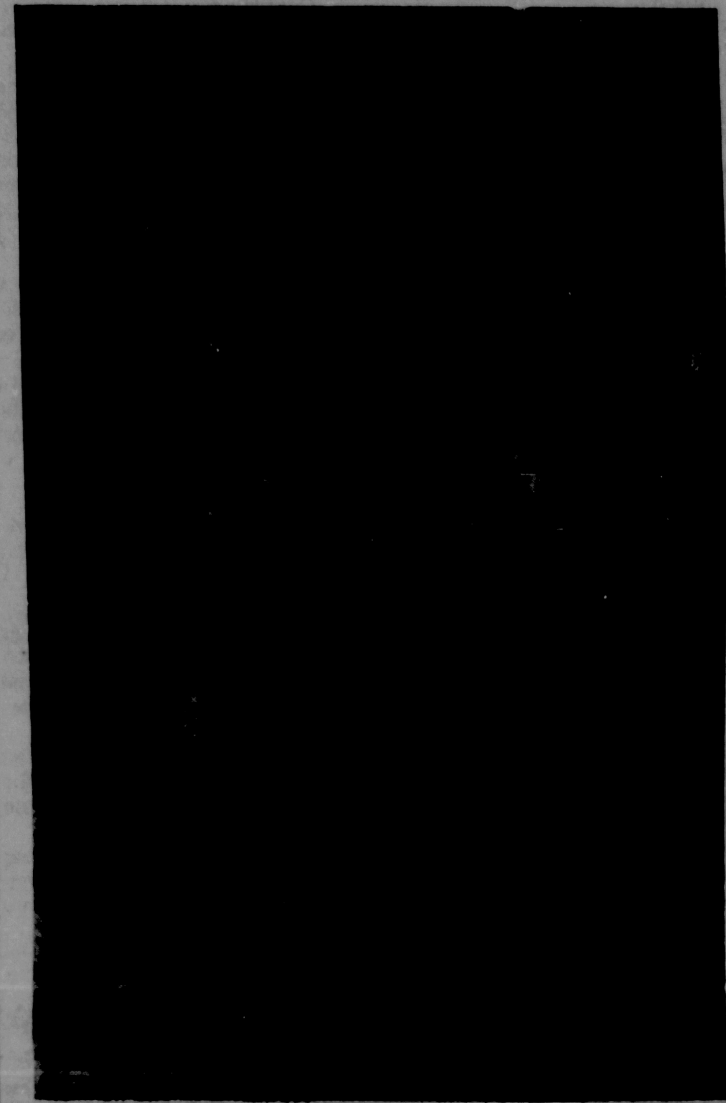

Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads merger — Scranton reserved comment whether the state would actively intervene in Interstate Commerce Commission hearings on the proposed merger of the two major railroads.

He said his administration would seek to intervene if it is not satisfied with developments at the ICC hearings.

Civil service — His proposal for a uniform civil service act was not meant to rip out existing programs, Scranton said.

Rather it would be an incorporation of existing statutes into a new law or a "boiling up" of the state's present civil service laws.

Milk commission — The governor reiterated his campaign pledge to seek to get the best possible personnel on the commission in order to make it a more effective agency.

Frigid Cold, Snow Lash Midwest, East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A polar cold wave shattered weather records across much of the Midwest on Wednesday and fanned outward to the Gulf and Atlantic coastal states.

Temperatures in parts of the Midwest, locked in a wintry vise for nearly two weeks, were near their lowest levels of this century.

Snow, strong winds and rain changing to sleet accompanied the arctic surge.

The advancing storm disrupted industry, slowed highway travel and caused massive traffic jams in some cities. Thousands of schools were closed in Illinois, Iowa, Ohio, Tennessee and Kentucky because of numbing cold or snow-covered roads.

Residents of a vast area from the northern and central Rockies eastward across the upper half of the Mississippi Valley and Michigan shivered in subzero cold. Zero readings were recorded as far south as the Texas Panhandle.

Near Tolley, N.D., a search party of neighbors found the frozen body of Richard Neubeck, 47, a farmer.

Apparently he collapsed in windy, 22 below zero cold while walking to a farm house after his car ran off a road.

Police in Monroe, Mich., found the frozen body of James Thomas, 62, seated in a rocker before an open window in his home. Death was attributed to exposure.

An elderly couple, Clifford Hamilton, 84, and his wife, Florence, 67, were found frozen to death in their home at Brimfield, Ill. A niece told police the couple was so afraid of fire they refused to heat their house. The temperature at the time was -17.

Navigation was blocked on the Mississippi River near Cairo, Ill., when ice floes formed a gorge several miles long.

Pennsylvania No Exception

Powdery snow, whipped by biting wind, spread across Pennsylvania Wednesday, causing treacherous driving conditions in most sections of the state.

At least two traffic fatalities were reported in western Pennsylvania.

The cold front dumped up to six inches of snow in several mountainous areas. The accumulation was light in the southeastern part of the state but the quick freeze made slippery conditions lasting.

It sent the temperature down 13 degrees in about 45 minutes in Philadelphia, following rain and sleet.

A two-car crash on ice and snow-covered Route 160 about three miles north of Windber, Somerset county, fatally injured Sandy Olszewski of Portage R. D.

and injured eight other persons.

In Westmoreland County, a tractor-trailer jackknifed and plunged off a snow-covered road, killing Richard Lane, 62, of Clearville, Bedford County, the driver.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said snow flurries will continue throughout Thursday, especially in the mountain and hilly areas. Temperatures will be very cold, with highs 6 to 12 above in the northern mountain areas to 10 to 20 elsewhere.

Congo Still Restless As Tshombe Departs

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Joseph Ileo, the central government's newly named resident minister for Katanga, arrived Wednesday for talks with President Moise Tshombe on proceedings to reunify the Congo. Tshombe was expected here from Kolwezi.

But there were reports of tension in Kolwezi, the mining town 150 miles northwest of here, where Tshombe had set up his headquarters in the fight against the United Nations.

The Katanga army commander there was quoted as saying, "The war is not over."

Guerrilla Tactics

Associated Press correspondent John Latz reported from Kolwezi that thousands of Katanga guerrillas had slipped into the bush with their weapons. Others milled around the town awaiting orders from superiors, Latz reported.

In Leopoldville, however, the U.N. Command reported the guerrillas had begun to lay down their arms in accordance with an agreement signed by Tshombe. Tshombe waved aside a U.N. request that he stay in Kolwezi to see the ending of arms by Katanga forces.

Tshombe Departs

"I am president, and leave these details to the military," he said.

He told newsmen in Kolwezi he was returning to Elisabethville, his capital, to carry on as provisional president. He traveled with his own armed guard.

Tshombe said he had been "attacked by some mercenaries," the white officers of his troops. He did not elaborate.

Tshombe was expected to meet soon with Ileo, former Congo premier who during the turbulent days of the Katanga secession called Tshombe a traitor and executioner.

Tentative Borough Budget Is $263,408

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night tentatively approved a 1963 budget calling for expenditures of $263,372 and a tax levy of 15 mills, the same as last year.

Taxes for the current year are expected to provide $80,000 of the $263,408.87 in receipts anticipated during the period. Parking meters will bring in $58,000, while the per capita tax of $5 a person is expected to produce $16,700. Taxes of prior years are expected to account for $10,500 of the revenue.

New Fire Truck

Principal items of expenses anticipated are $4,508 for the police department and $41,703 for street department operations. Also included in the budget is an expenditure of $23,000 for a new fire truck, with the money being transferred to the budget from the new fire apparatus fund, and $18,500 for street lighting, including lighting of entrances and exits to the Stroudsburgs Thruway, and $30,000 for street construction.

JFK Tax Message Due Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will send a special message outlining his tax reduction program to Congress on Thursday, and a hot argument already is under way between Republicans and Democrats.

The President's 9,000-word message is scheduled for delivery at noon Eastern Standard Time.

It is expected to fill out the details of the plan he already has announced in general terms calling for a $13.5-billion cut in corporate and individual income tax rates over a three-year period.

Kennedy said he would propose changes in present tax laws to yield an additional $3.5 billion in revenue.

Other record low readings for the date included: Madison, Wis., -27; Mercer, Mo., -26; Des Moines, Iowa, -22; St. Louis, -11; Kansas City, -9; Oklahoma City, -1; Cairo, Ill., -1.

Record-breaking cold for the date is expected Thursday over much of the South. Zero readings are on tap for all states from the Rockies to the Appalachians.

Cold-wave warnings went out for the vast area from the southern Great Plains to the southern and central Appalachians and the Gulf states. A hard overnight freeze was forecast for the citrus and vegetable-growing areas of the Rio Grande Valley.

Heavy snow was forecast for most of the Appalachian region and northern New England with a fall of two to four inches expected in the Deep South states of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

Newark Police Hold Wayne Man As Burglary Suspect

A HONESDALE man suspected of theft is being held today by police in Newark, N.J., after he was smoked out of the cellar of a bar by two fires.

The accused is identified as Robert Edward Smith, 28, is charged with breaking and entering, larceny and malicious burning.

The arrest coincided with the second fire at the Penn Bar, yesterday.

The first fire in early afternoon, a small blaze in the cellar, was quickly taken care of by firemen.

York Library Open To Teens

YORK, Pa. (AP) — The York city library board Tuesday gave junior and senior high school students full access to the library after three weeks of turmoil over teenage hijinks among the books.

The board announced full access is effective Thursday.

The library board, which supervises the Martin Memorial Library said it had assurances of area school principals that the educators "will cooperate to the utmost to help the library return to full operation without the twin hazards of misbehavior and overcrowding."

Aides in the library closed the facility to teenagers Jan. 2 after reporting that misbehavior and overcrowding was rampant — particularly in the darker portions of the library.

The students were allowed to take outbooks, but could not stay in the library. Without sanctioning of school officials, the students picketed the library, bringing the matter to national attention.

The commonwealth of Pennsylvania threatened to shut off state aid unless the problem was worked out. School and city officials declined to take jurisdiction.

But following closed meetings the library issued Tuesday's statement.

who boarded the entrance when they left the scene.

A few hours later, police spotted smoke coming from the cellar again. Again the fire department came, but this time firemen found Smith as well as another small fire.

Part of the wine and liquor stored in the cellar was missing, police said.

According to investigators, Smith said he was in the cellar during the first fire, but was able to hide from the firemen. After the firemen left, he tried to get out but couldn't because of the boarded-up entrance.

He started the second fire to keep warm, he told police.

AEC Awards Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A $3.49 million contract has been awarded to a Philadelphia firm for modifications at the Shippingport atomic power station, the Atomic Energy Commission said Wednesday.

The contract went to the Catalytic Construction Co. of Philadelphia following competitive bidding.

Changes are needed at the Beaver County station to increase its nuclear power level so that a second core may be tested and operated at its full rated power of 150,000 kilowatts, the AEC said in an announcement from its Pittsburgh office.

The AEC said the second core will have more than twice the power rating and design life of the first core.

Work is scheduled to start about the end of the year, about the time the operation of the first core ends.

Business Failures Dip From High

Stunt Pilots, Aides Thrilled Throngs

Flying Adventure Followed War 1

By JEFF COX
Daily Record Reporter

DURING THE years following World War I, thousands of Army training planes were stockpiled and slated for ultimate destruction.

But many of these planes, during the twenties and early thirties, logged many more miles than they did over the training camps of the United States. A group of adventurous and skilled young men, many former pilots with the Royal Air Force and American air units, took the route of barnstorming and stunt flying.

Barnstorming consisted of hopping from town to town, taking people for their first air-ride—free for cash. The barnstormer would buy a used WWI Army trainer and begin flying. The planes were what flyers called "Jennies," Curtiss-Wright JN4D biplanes, powered usually by an OX-5 engine.

Another plane used was the Standard Biplane, a three-seater, with either an OX-5 engine or a Hispano-Suiza engine. Old-timers will remember the luxurious automobiles known as Hispano-Suizas.

Any Open Space

The barnstormers would land wherever they could find an open spot—whether it was a farmer's field or a clearing near the town. This accounted for many accidents, as the wheels of the old cloth, wood, and metal machines struck ruts and rocks. The barnstormer would then contact the townspeople and offer to take them up in the two- or three-seater planes.

Some of the more enterprising barnstormers would buy up lots of uncrated and unassembled Jennies and begin a flying school. When the patrons had learned to fly, they would purchase a Jenny and start a business of their own.

The barnstormers were passenger carriers, but their flights took them from one ocean to the other on this continent.

A more dangerous occupation in those days was stunt flying.

Through the twenties and thirties air shows were feature attractions at fairs.

Stuntmen would send advance men to towns planning a fair and sign a contract to fly for the fair. After this became more organized, troupes of stunt flyers toured the country.

These flyers would perform aerial acrobatics before the crowds assembled at the fairgrounds. These stunts included looping the loop, rolling, spinning and acrobatic flying.

Usually the featured performers of this kind of entertainment would be the wingwalkers and the parachute jumpers. The wing walkers would go up with a pilot and climb out on the wings of the biplane during flight. The jumpers would simply jump, a sight that has been made more common today by the advent of sky-diving as a sport.

Costumes

Pilots and stuntmen, barnstormers and flight school owners wore costumes of the

Lippi Trial To Resume Today

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The income tax evasion trial of August J. Lippi and three other men resumes in U. S. District Court Thursday after a special one-day recess.

Presiding Judge Frederick V. Folmer called the recess Tuesday to give principles in the case a chance to attend funeral services for former United Mine Workers President Thomas Kennedy.

Opening arguments by special deputy Atty. Gen. John Burke, prosecutor for the U. S. government, is the first order of business when court reconvenes at 10 a.m.

Burke had wanted to go into his opening arguments Tuesday after selection of a jury, but the move was protested by the defense on grounds it would be better to start fresh Thursday.

Atty. Edwin Kosik of Scranton, one of four defense counsels in the case, said Wednesday the defense has not decided yet whether to present its opening arguments immediately or wait until the government completes its testimony.

SU Agrees To Buy Land For $32,500

THE STROUD Union School Board last night voted to enter into a purchase agreement with Joseph H. Beers to buy 15 acres of land for $32,500.

The land is situated west of present Stroud Union High School athletic fields and will be used to build an addition to the high school that will serve over 400 students.

Beers had originally asked $40,000 for the acreage, but stated that he would negotiate for its sale.

A committee from the school board contacted Beers, and after nearly an hour of negotiation, settled on $32,500 for the land.

At a meeting last Wednesday, the board felt that the Beers' asking price of $40,000 was too high and contacted realtors Heberling and Dreher to appraise the land.

Route 209 Section To Be Closed

ROUTE 209 between Snyder'sville and Stroudsburg will be closed to traffic beginning at 8 a.m. Monday, weather conditions permitting, it was announced last night.

June 1 is the tentative date for reopening the highway to traffic, according to Morgan Brown, superintendent for James D. Morrissey Co., Philadelphia construction firm.

Closing of the highway is to permit construction of ramps which will carry Route 209 over Legislative Rt. 796, an extension of the Wind Gap By-Pass, which will carry that highway to intersections with Interstate 80 in Stroudsburg at W. Main St. and at Bartonsville.

Heberling Realtors appraised the land at $1,500 an acre, totalling $22,500 for the 15 acres, plus $10,000 for a house situated on the property. This brings the appraisal in line with the settled $32,500 purchase price.

Beers told the negotiating committee that his appraisers, the Penn-Jersey Engineers of Portland, had appraised the land at $47,000. The higher figure is due to Beers' plans for selling the lots piecemeal to prospective home-builders.

May Get State Aid

Earl F. Groner, superintendent of the school district, said that Harrisburg school officials told him there was a possibility the district could get between 20 to 30 per cent of the purchase price back from the state.

Edward Williams, legal consultant for the board, suggested that the board should authorize Edward C. Hess, civil engineer, to make a survey of the property and supply a legal description of the premises. The legal boundaries of the land must be set before the purchase transaction can be completed. Because there can be no verbal agreement to purchase land that is legally binding, the board will enter into a purchase agreement in writing.

The board had not budgeted for the land when this year's budget was drawn up, but the down payment is available through other funds.

There was discussion concerning a possibility that the payment might not be made until after July 1, so that the price could be put on the next fiscal budget.

Senator, Grid Giant To Speak Here

SPEAKERS for the Feb. 7 distinguished service award banquet of the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce were announced last night by Ray Roberts, chamber president.

They will be Dick Lynch, defensive halfback of the New York Giants football team, and State Sen. Robert Casey of Lackawanna County, the youngest member of that legislative body.

Roberts also announced that the local chamber leads its area in the statewide membership drive with a 36 per cent increase in membership.

He praised the efforts of Edwin Krawitz, internal vice president, and Kay Remsnyder, membership drive chairman. He also said Howard Colette, secretary, deserved recognition for signing five new members during the drive.

"Mystery Man"

Remsnyder announced a new drive will be conducted between now and the distinguished service award banquet. Among features of the drive is a "mystery man" in the area who has agreed to join the Jaycees.

Remsnyder said the man in question is well-known, under 33 years of age and has a strong interest in the leadership training offered by the Jaycees.

The Jaycee member signing the "mystery man" will receive a cash award. Other clues will be provided during the two-week contest.

New Storm Hits Poconos

4-6 Inches Of Snow Drops

TEMPERATURES took a swan dive off the high board last night as snow piled up across Monroe County.

About 7 p.m. last night temperatures plummeted 10 to 20 degrees within minutes across the county. The mercury fell from 34 to 24 in Stroudsburg.

At 6 p.m. the temperature in Mount Pocono was 24 degrees. Two hours later it stood at four above.

Thick wet snow in the afternoon smothered highways with a coating of slippery fudge, only to be frozen into ice later as the thermometer dropped.

New snow polished the roads like powdered wax on a shuffleboard table, bringing reports of hazardous conditions from all parts of the area.

Road crews were also out last night in all parts of the county, plowing and cinderling.

5-10 Above Today

Temperatures are expected to hover between five and 10 above zero today, with snow flurries during the morning. The weather bureau last night reported that the accumulation should not reach more than 10 inches.

Mount Pocono police reported the roads slippery with an accumulation of four inches at 10 p.m. last night. Leighton had about six inches of snow and a temperature of 18 degrees.

Driver Injured In Crash

ONE DRIVER was slightly injured in a two-car crash on Route 611, seven miles north of Mt. Pocono, at 3 p.m. yesterday.

State Police at Mt. Pocono identified the drivers as Antoinette LaManto, Pine Brook, N. J., and Russell A. Huyler, Batavia, N. Y.

They said the LaManto car slid off the highway into the path of Huyler's vehicle. Damage was estimated at $1,100 to both cars. Huyler complained of knee and arm bruises and said he would consult a physician.

Honeymoon Resorts Discuss Renaming Vacation Bureau

THE MONTHLY dinner and business meeting of the Pocono Honeymoon Resorts Association was held Tuesday night at the Yankee Doodle Room, High Point Inn, Mt. Pocono. President James Moore of Honeymoon Haven presided.

A lengthy discussion took place on the subject of the present name of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau. A proposal was introduced by Steve Marlow of Pocono Gardens Lodge, who is also on the publicity committee of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, that the name be changed or amended so that it would encompass the complete range of hotel, motel and other resort facilities in the Pocono Mountains.

It was brought out that this particular name was chosen many years ago when the major portion of the bureau's function at that time was to promote summer vacation business. The Pocono Mountains area has since grown into a year 'round resort area for conventions, winter sports enthusiasts and now has nationwide recognition as being the primary year 'round honeymoon resort area in the United States.

Therefore, it was felt that the name of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau should be amended or changed to clearly communicate to the public its more modern and larger scope. It was also noted that the American Hotel Association recently amended its name to include the rapidly growing motel industry.

It was suggested that the president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau be contacted immediately and be informed of the honeymoon association's thoughts on this matter. However, it was noted that the president of the Vacation Bureau is in Florida at the present time and was not available. Therefore, Paul Asure of Paradise Valley Lodge, a past president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, suggested that the best time to introduce this proposal was at the general membership meeting in August as the complete membership would be present at that time. This was unanimously agreed upon by PHRA members.

Further discussions were held on the PHRA's participation in the Philadelphia Travel & Vacation Show to be held April 19 through 28 and that a design is now being planned for the show exhibit. Peter Rossi of Pocono Gardens Lodge is chairman of the exhibit committee and is assisted by Charles Paolillo, of Penn Hills and Morris Wilkins of Cove Haven.

Walter E. Hoffman, Jr., of Birchwood, was appointed to contact Jack Kelly, Jr., president of the travel show and brother of Her Highness Princess Grace of Monaco, to see whether at the time Princess Grace officially opens the show, she would participate in a special event being planned by the PHRA members at their exhibit.

Frozen Body Of Wayne Man Found In Own Garage

HONESDALE—The frozen body of Charles Saffer, 62, of Welcome Lake, was found yesterday by a neighbor in Saffer's garage. It is believed he had been dead for two days.

State Trooper Joseph Chinchar of the Honesdale barracks and Chief Deputy Coroner Robert Jennings said the cause of death cannot be determined until the body thaws sufficiently to permit examination. They said there was no visible sign of foul play.

Mr. Saffer's body was found partly in his car and partly on the garage floor by Russell Mott, also of Welcome Lake, who had been told by a mail carrier that Mr. Saffer had not picked up Monday's mail.

He was last seen Sunday with a group of fishermen about a mile from his home at the Perkins Rod and Gun Club, of which he was a member.

Authorities said he apparently collapsed and died after returning home.

The body was released to a Narrowsburg, N. Y., funeral director.

Saffer was a Wayne County resident since his retirement in 1954 as a railroad express agent in Jersey City, N. J. He was a member of Jersey City F. & A. M. and Scottish Rite Lodges.

Mr. Saffer is survived by one brother, William, Portland, Ore.

Ex-Commissioner Out On Parole

HARRISBURG (AP)—Thomas J. Evans, 78-year-old former turnpike commissioner who spent most of his turnpike conspiracy sentence in a hospital, was released on parole Wednesday.

He was carried on a stretcher from the Harrisburg Hospital and taken to his home at Coaldale, Schuylkill County, in an ambulance.

Evans began his sentence in January 1961 in the Dauphin County prison, but was transferred to the hospital two months later because of a heart ailment and amnesia. He was confined to a $30 a day hospital room.

His sentences for the 1958 conviction were a flat two-year term and another ranging from two-to-four years. He was paroled after half of each sentence was completed.

Evans was one of four persons convicted of conspiring to defraud the commonwealth in a $19.5 million contract awarded to the Man-Mines Research and Development Co. for landfilling on the North-east Extension of the turnpike.

Marines Urge High School Graduates To Eye Corps

CORPORAL Thomas R. Trent, the local Marine Corps recruiter mentioned yesterday that the time is rapidly approaching where young high school men who are thinking positively about their future can take advantage of an opportunity the Marine Corps has to present.

The opportunity Trent was speaking of is the Marine Corps "120 Day Delay" program, which is particularly advantageous to the young man who wants to fulfill his military obligation to his country as soon as he graduates, rather than wait until such a time that the draft might interfere with his plans.

"Under the 120 Day Delay program," Trent said, "a young man may enlist up to 120 days, or four months, prior to the time he wants to depart for recruit training. While this enlistment means that he is actually a member of the Marine Corps, he is still able to complete his schooling and graduate. But in addition to this, he also adds up to four months longevity to his military service, which entitles him to an automatic pay raise after four months, and a chance for quicker promotion to Private First Class."

Trent went on to say that if more than one young man desires to enlist, he and his friends may join together, and be guaranteed training together under the "Buddy Program."

The Marine recruiter also said that in the event a man is interested in aviation, he may be guaranteed duty with one of the Corps' aviation units, providing he meets the necessary qualifications for aviation schooling and assignment.

Trent has extended an invitation to anyone and in particular those young men who will graduate this school year, who are interested in the Marine Corps, its training, benefits, and opportunities, to contact him for further and more complete information. He may be contacted at the Stroudsburg post office on Thursdays between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., or by calling Easton 252-0532.

Germans Meet Jews

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) — A "Friendship with Israel" campaign will be inaugurated throughout West Germany next month.

Girls Work Toward Aid Badge

NEWFOUNDLAND — Splints and bandages have become practically standard wearing apparel during meetings of Laurel Girl Scout Troop 253, where ten girls have been working toward earning the First Aid Badge under the direction of Mrs. J. Robert Burdick, who also serves as school nurse at Southern Wayne.

Achieving the badge this week were Kathleen Butler, Nancy Haldaman, Sharon Haag, Ruth Ann Schoenagel, Gail Butler, Melissa Burdick, Joyce McLean, Shirley Stevens, Nancy Krieger and Joan Webster.

The troop is "clearing the decks," preparing for the big sale of Girl Scout cookies next month. Mrs. Anne Hinton is cookie chairman.

Melissa Burdick has been named reporter for the troop, which is under the leadership of Mrs. Thelma Peet, Mrs. Millie Webster and Mrs. Ethel Wohlfart.

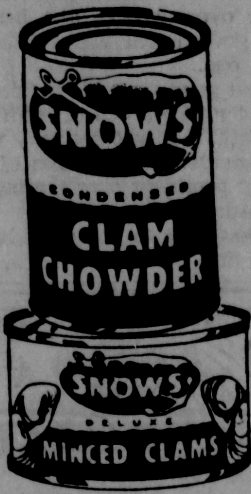

A suspicion of sugar usually points up the flavor of canned tomatoes.

Negro Is Mass. Attorney Gen.

BOSTON (AP) — Edward W. Brooke was sworn in recently as attorney general of Massachusetts. He is the first Negro elected to that office.

Gov. Endicott Peabody, Democrat, administered the oath of office to Brooke, a Republican, before a crowd which taxed the capacity of the Massachusetts House chamber.

Brooke, 43, was the only Republican winning office in a Democratic sweep in the fall elections.

Interpreting The News

A-Weapons Getting Around

France has announced formally that she will have atomic weapons and a delivery system by the end of this year.

The United States has just estimated formally that Red China will have atomic weapons about that same time.

The Soviet Union has announced formally that she will not consider an atomic test ban which does not cover France.

The Soviet Union has announced that she does not consider involvement of Red China in current test ban negotiations as worth considering. Yet both the U.S.S.R. and the United States consider Red China a threat to world peace.

The Soviet Union has formally advised the President of the United States that she is now willing to negotiate over the principle of on site inspections in connection with a test ban—but no more than three a year.

This is a repetition of a position toward which the Soviet Union has moved, only to recede, several times.

After one of those times, she blew up by unilateral action an informal embargo under which no tests had been held by Britain or the United States for more than two years.

France has not participated in the dreamy test negotiations which have been going on for several years. If she is going to produce a nuclear system as she announces and has steadfastly maintained, she's going to keep on testing.

That means the so-called Soviet-concession is merely the opening of one door to negotiations while preparing an escape through another, which is what Soviet concessions have meant for 45 years.

Against this background of contradictions, British and American diplomats are talking about the "possibilities" opened up by the Soviet admission that just a little bit of inspection might not be espionage if properly controlled.

The Soviet Union has not said international inspectors can walk in when they deem it justified, or whether they can do so only on her invitation.

The system she proposes would be something like the American court system of limiting peremptory challenges of prospective jurors. The attorney who can find enough unacceptable people on a jury panel can force his opponent to use up his peremptory challenges, whereupon the winner has a better chance of seating those from whom he expects agreement.

Lancaster Cattle

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Cattle 200: good slaughter steers 25.00-30.00, good and choice feeder steers 24.00-28.00. Calves 125: good and choice vealers 20.00-30.00, choice and prime 30.00-42.00, standard and low with his own case. In spite of all the contradictions, the United States and Great Britain are sitting down to negotiate over another test ban with the government which broke the first one.

That government is headed by a dictator whose end of term is not in sight, and who has only recently repeated his intention of eventually presiding over the burial of the American way.

I leave it to you what his motives are.

Seek Ear Bones Of Deaf

A novel material for making surgical repairs; a campaign to get bequests of ear bones from the deaf; and a potential new star performer among laboratory monkeys are subjects for the Focus On Health this week: Taffeta Grafts.

From Red China comes a report of a new surgical technique for repairing extensive defects in the walls of the human abdomen and chest. It involves use of silk

Butterfat Average Dips In Wayne

NEWFOUNDLAND — The severe drought and shortage of food for dairy herds in Wayne County during 1962 resulted in a slight drop in average butterfat per cow under 1961, according to Wayne County Dairy Herd Improvement records.

Among the local cows listed as the 25 high individuals for 1962 are Effie, owned by Samuel Le-Freuh II, Greentown, who topped all producers in the county; Candy and Rosie, owned by Ray Gibby, Newfoundland; Linda, another DeFreuh cow; and Snoopy, owned by Bruce Banks, of Panther.

Herd averages above 300 pounds of butterfat per cow include those of Ray Gibby, Newfoundland; Samuel DeFreuh II, Greentown; Bruce Banks, Panther; Isaac Martin, Newfoundland; and Friend Uhl and Sons, Newfoundland.

taffeta which is spread across the opening and anchored tightly so as to avoid wrinkling.

The taffeta grafts are designed to serve as a covering until a dense fibrous wall of the patient's own tissue ultimately spreads over the area of the defect.

A team of Peking surgeons, describing the work in the Chinese Medical Journal, said gratifying results had been achieved in 10 of 12 patients treated so far. A few of the patients were said to have gone more than three years since their operations without apparent ill-effects from the technique.

Ear Bone

A nationwide campaign is under way to encourage more persons handicapped by deafness or equilibrium disorders to bequeath their temporal bones to science when they die.

The temporal bones, which form part of the base of the skull, one at each side of the head, contain the middle-ear and inner-ear structures. "Banks" of such bones are in existence at 22 universities and hospitals throughout the country where scientists are studying the bones to learn more about the diseases that produce deafness and various forms of vertigo linked with ear abnormalities.

But now the Temporal Bone Banks Center at the University of Chicago—central point of the network—is trying to build up the resources of the banks. A grant of $48,000 from the U.S. Public Health Service is being used to promote the educational cam-

Monkey Business

The long reign of the Rhesus monkey as the big shot among laboratory animals used for neuropsychological research may be nearing its end.

The stump-tailed macaque monkey is shaping up as a possible rival, according to researchers at Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

The scientists say that while the Rhesus is valuable from the scientific standpoint, it's inclined to be very belligerent, which complicates handling.

Meeting On Relocating Rte. 611 Slated In Harrisburg

DIFFERENCES of opinion regarding the relocation of Route 611 in Northampton County will be aired Monday in the office of Highway Secretary Henry D. Harrel, Harrisburg.

State Sen. Fred B. Rooney, arranging the meeting which will include officials from the Eastern-Bethlehem area.

The conference will concern a route which would stretch north from Harrow, in Bucks County, to a link with the Wind Gap Bypass. Route 611 now curves along the Delaware River.

Reports that state plans tentatively favored a route bending west towards Hellertown touched off protests it would damage Eastern area interests.

Palmer Township supervisors this week also requested that Route 611 be in Bethlehem Township. The board said in a letter, "The new Route 611 could serve Bethlehem and Easton by going through the center of undeveloped land situated in Bethlehem Township. This would be most direct and economical path to follow and could not be detrimental to either community."

New Proposal, Map

A new proposal and map submitted by Heikid Elio, chairman of the Lehigh-Delaware Development Council, will be presented to Harrel at Monday's session.

Elio proposed a "compromise" might be to run the route close to Easton and over Morgan's Hill.

Elio suggested that Route 611 could be connected with a new road running east and west through Stouts Valley from Raubsville to Hellertown. At a point between Hellertown and Bethlehem the east-west route could connect with a proposed Bethlehem spur to take traffic through Bethlehem and connect with the Lehigh Valley Thruway at Shoemakersville.

The Raubsville-Hellertown section could be part of an east-west interstate highway proposed to go south of Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown, Elio said.

Accused Murderer Cuts Wrists

DOVER, DEL.—Thomas N. Hogan, 47, of Westville, N. J., charged with the murder of Miss Sara E. Williams, formerly of Stroudsburg, cut his wrists and arms Tuesday with a razor blade in Kent Correctional Institution. Attendants at the institute said Hogan is not in critical condition, although he lost considerable blood. Stitches were required to close wounds on his wrists and arms.

Robert Pippin, warden of the institution, said Hogan must have found an old razor blade in his cell. He was searched before he was taken to his cell.

Pippin said Hogan was found bleeding in his cell several hours after he refused to go for breakfast.

Hogan is charged with shooting to death Miss Sara E. Williams, formerly of Stroudsburg, as she stepped from the back door of her apartment in a residential section of Dover.

She was preparing to leave for work at the International Latex Corp., where she was a payroll administrator.

Hogan has been described at a rejected suitor.

Police said Hogan had been warned twice by judges to stay out of Delaware after arrests last month resulting from his relationship with Miss Williams.

Hogan told a magistrate at one of his hearings his heart was broken because Miss Williams wanted to end their relationship. They had been dating for several years, police said.

He was arrested Dec. 16 on a charge of assault and battery filed by Miss Williams. Two days later he was arrested again and charged with carrying concealed and deadly weapons—a .22-caliber pistol and a butcher knife.

Hogan had been in prison in default of $5,000 bond on a charge of making threats to do bodily harm to Miss Williams. He was released on Jan. 4 after a Superior Court judge reduced the bond to $500.

He was arrested two hours after the shooting on U.S. Route 13 after a chase at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. He was apprehended after his car struck three cars. Hogan was knocked unconscious in the accident.

Hogan is being held without bail for action of the Kent County Superior Court.

Well Worth It

TORONTO (AP)—It took a day's sifting through 10 tons of garbage but Jean Sinclair recovered her husband's $130 pay envelope. A friend and several trash collectors helped her rake through a dump after her son put out the family garbage, the money with it, and a truck hauled it away.

UCC Head Sees Church Going Ahead

HARRISBURG — The president of the United Church of Christ today took a long year's end look at his denomination and made it clear that he was pleased with what he saw. Mrs. Fred Quig, Stroudsburg R.D. 1, attended the session.

Speaking to almost 100 ministers and laymen attending the first regional meeting of the Council at the Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, the Rev. Dr. Ben Mohr Herberster, New York City, declared:

"From the want age point of where I sit, we are much farther on the way toward achieving a United Church than in my most optimistic moments I believed was possible in so short a time."

He said that the spirit he encountered as he traveled around the country "encourages me to believe that we are on the threshold of a great breakthrough which can only mean a new devotion to the mission of the Church which we never achieved in our separate fellowships."

(The United Church of Christ was formed by union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and churches.)

Dr. Herberster warned his fellow churchmen against the danger of becoming "self-satisfied and complacent with the temperature of our spiritual life" and declared that much remained to be done. To help "every last member of

Plan To Move Marquis Statue

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The Marquis de Lafayette plans to move south for about three months and he's carrying $5,000 worth of insurance.

Who is Marquis de Lafayette? He's Fayette County's contribution to the arts, a nine-foot timber statue of the Frenchman who fought gallantly with George Washington in the American Revolution.

The statue will be on exhibit at the Atlanta, Ga., Art Museum, sharing equal billing with masterpieces like Whistler's Mother and others.

The exhibit, commemorating the tragic death of 122 members of the Atlanta Art Association in a plane crash June 3, 1962, at Orly Field in Paris, opens Feb. 10.

The wooden statue, with a bleak expression, usually stands in a corner of the Fayette County Courthouse. It was carved by David G. Blythe in 1847 for $125. The marquis made his modern art debut in 1859 at the Westmoreland Museum of Art in Greensburg. In 1961 he was on display at the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute at Utica, N. Y. He made such a hit that his initial stay was extended beyond the time planned.

the United Church of Christ achieve spiritual maturity is the talk of the Church, and the United Church of Christ dare never cease this talk. If we fail here, we fail every place," he said.

Professional Ice Skater Now Teaching In Poconos

NEWLY appointed as figure skating instructor at Pocono Ice-A-Rama is Anne Magagna, former Anne Lockwood, mother of three children ages 4½, 1½ and 3 months is now residing with her husband David, in Canadensis.

Anne was introduced to skating when both parents saw the "Ice Follies of 1942. Intensive study in Washington, D.C. and Canada under Norval Baptie — who still coaches at 80 years of age from a wheel chair — and Osborne Colson, Canadian Mens Champion and former teacher of Barbara Ann Scott, resulted in the successive passage through the sixth U.S.F.S.A. figure test and many dance tests.

At St. Lawrence University in Canton, New York, she took advantage of their new arena and choreographed and produced an ice show for the annual Winter Carnival in 1953.

Before turning pro to skate in Tommy Randolph's "Ice Skating Theatre of 1955" Anne won the Senior Ladies and Mixed Pair titles of the Washington Figure Skating Club. After completing her second season on the professional staff of the Washington School of Ice Skating Anne Magagna moved to the Poconos last May.

It is her desire to capture the interest not only of the children in the area but also the young adult and mature adult groups.

Scale Chilean Peak

PUNTA ARENAS, Chile (AP)—Three Britons have scaled the central, needle-like peak in Chile's Torres del Paine, the first foreigners ever to do so. The peak is only 7,872 feet high, but it is considered one of the world's most difficult climbs because of its smooth, perpendicular sides and the high winds that sweep them.

Pimiento strips make a pretty addition to cooked green lima beans and the combination also tastes good.

NAVY LIEUTENANT junior grade Adrian W. Tewksbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Tewksbury of Route 2, East Stroudsburg, designated a Naval Aviator in ceremonies held at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Tex., has "Wings of Gold" pinned on by his wife, the former Miss Dolores Mandel of Windber, Pa. He received orders to Patrol Squadron 22, Barbers Point, Hawaii. A graduate of Pennsylvania State University, State College, Tewksbury entered the Navy in June 1961.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For the first time since Christmas I was able on Tuesday night to get all the way up the driveway in the customary way — and unloaded the boots, shoes, mail and other sundries which had transformed the car into a sort of half-way dressing room.

So now look! Probably snowed out until Easter, I even had to borrow a pair of boots to wear in with. And it's small comfort to read that things are cold all over — even Italy. I still think it had something to do with high altitude nuclear tests—at least in my damper moments when I have to blame something.

At any rate the snow sort of stopped everything, which had been hitting a pretty headlong pace, dead in its tracks — especially the cars trying to get over the Seventh St. Bridge. Wednesday afternoon bridge clubs closed up shop early, school buses were late getting the children home, there was a great flurry of telephoning to cancel scheduled meetings.

Along Main St. the only activity was a trio of college girls rolling a very large—and very dirty — snowball up the sidewalk. The last I saw of it, it was waist-high and sort of coal-colored.

Well, maybe it all will melt in time for all the projects planned for the weekend, although I've had a grim feeling about this winter ever since it got off to such an early start. The only note of optimism I feel at the moment is that come snow, sleet and blizzards, babies keep getting born on schedule, and people continue to fall in love and get engaged.

And while some organizations, taking a look at the thermometer, have cancelled plans for February meetings, most of them are right in there planning away on their programs and projects. Besides, if we did try to get away from it all, where would we go? As a special favor, though, will you stop saying "But you'll have to admit, it does look pretty".

GOP Council Organizing In West End

The Western Pocono Council of Republican Women will hold election of officers on Monday night, Jan. 28, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Roy Gower, Route 115, Brodheadville, opposite the Chestnut-hill Elementary School.

The slate of nominated officers includes Mrs. Fred Murdock, Mrs. Clark Smith and Mrs. Elwood Hubbard for president; Mrs. Roy Gower and Mrs. James Lytle for secretary; Mrs. William Fisher III and Mrs. Warren Smith for treasurer.

The new council is the result of a membership drive conducted last Fall by the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women when 40 women from the West End joined that council. A minimum of 25 members makes it possible to secure a charter from Harrisburg for their own council.

All registered Republican women from Chestnut-hill, Eldred, Polk, Ross and neighboring townships are invited to attend the meeting. Anyone needing a ride may call Mrs. Elwood Hubbard, 421-6907.

Fashion Council Organized By Designers

For the first time in the history of American fashion, leaders in all branches of creative design across the country have banded together for the purpose of "furthering the position of fashion design as a recognized branch of American art and culture, to establish and maintain a code of ethics and practices in professional, public and trade relations, and to promote and improve public understanding and appreciation of the fashion arts through group leadership in quality and taste." The newly chartered organization is the Council of Fashion Designers of America (CFDA).

The charter has been filed with the Secretary of State of New York, as a non-profit membership organization, with more than 50 charter members, among them the most important names in the apparel, footwear, textile, jewelry and accessory fields.

The members of CFDA met on January 7, 1963 in New York and elected a Board of Directors who in turn elected officers.

The Board is composed of: Bill Blass, Donald Brooks, Jane Derby, David Evans, Helen Lee, Jean Louis, Norman Norrell, Fernando Sarm, Adele Simpson, Pauline Trigere, Sydney Wragge, Ben Zuckerman, Leon A. Munchin and Eleanor Lambert. The last two will serve as legal counsel and public relations advisor respectively, and will have the status of honorary members.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Siptroth.

Mrs. Kitchen served refreshments to her guests: Mrs. Lewis Ace, Mrs. Harry Buzzard, Mrs. Rodney Baehold, Mrs. LeRoy Kaiser, Mrs. Harold Crossdale, Mrs. Stephen Matos, Mrs. Stanley Siptroth, Mrs. Nelson Lightner, Sr., Mrs. Russell Shellenberger, Mrs. Lucy Johnson and Mrs. P. A. Rockefeller.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Wickoff's today announces a fabulous sale of Berkshire hosiery—such a wonderful dollar-saving opportunity for women, that all who have been wearing "snagged" and "picked" stockings can well afford to throw them out and start fresh. I am delighted to be able to mention this, for I have received a note from Grace Grace, president of Junior Women's Club, asking that all old hosiery be donated to the club. It will be laundered, and used for the stuffing of toys to be given the children's ward of the hospital ship S S Hope.

In order to simplify the giving of your discarded hosiery to this very worthwhile project, we have asked Blanche Mackey to keep a box for this purpose in our Frigidaire department, and to see that the Junior Women are contacted whenever the box is full, which, we hope, will be often. With Blanche interested in something, it is sure to be a success, for she can inject enthusiasm into anyone who so much as passes by. Knowing Blanche, she'll soon have nine tenths of our women customers praying for runs in their stockings, just so they can push the cause along; This will, of course, be splendid for sales in Laura Faber's department.

Dorothy Hammond, formerly of our Wyckoff store family, is chairman of the S S Hope project for the Junior Women, and may be contacted by anyone desiring further information. But right now, you have Gracie's word that "What we need are clean, discarded nylon hose with which to make these stuffed toys washable and soft. It takes many, many pairs just to stuff one small toy, so every stocking left at Wyckoff's will be greatly appreciated."

WALK ON WYCKOFF'S FREE FOR TEN DAYS!
That's the unusual offer being made in our Wyckoff shoe department where we have in stock the indescribably comfortable casual shoes called Revelations by Desco. These shoes are fashioned of genuine deerskin, and as though that doesn't indicate the softness and durability of the leather, we invite you to really see and feel the cushioned innersole. The 1/2 inch urethane sole is softer than cashmere; so light you're not sure whether you remembered to step into a shoe or left it home under the bed; and so flexible you can literally dance your way through a day's work.

If all this sounds naturally rhapsodic and not quite truthful, try these shoes for yourself. FEEL what we are talking about. If you are still not convinced that comfort is actually built into Revelations, return them to us and your money will be refunded. There are two styles: Dasher in Natural Deerskin, Black Deerskin, and El Greco Tan at 11.95; Rocket at 9.95. Full particulars will appear in our ad of tomorrow, but in the meantime ask to see them when you shop Wyckoff's. If an offer like this can't rock you and send you dashing into our shoe department, you're REALLY unpredictable!

Styles change in hosiery as well as in shoes, hats, and dresses... but not so drastically. However, because they do and because Berkshire is discontinuing some styles, our hosiery department is able to offer a real dollar saving opportunity for you to stock up. There are six types of hosiery represented in our sale; colors are Tint and Twinkle, size 8 1/2 to 11 and S, M, L, and the price is just 99c a pair or 3 prs. 2.82. Regular price is 1.50 or 1.65 a pair.

The six hosiery types which constitute the complete, all-occasion Berkshire wardrobe from which you may make your selections here at Wyckoff's are: Nylace... a seamed dress shoe that can't run; Dress Sheers; Service Weight; Seamless Demi-Toe, a stocking that has a toe but no heel, designed for wear with this Spring's fashionable open-heel shoes; Over-the-Knee Seamless, a stocking of just-about-the-knee height, with its own built in elastic garter; and Rite Stretch with seams, a dress sheer stretch.

If you have a run in your stocking, why not join our run on stockings here at Wyckoff's, and buy BERKSHIRES?

Taxpayer Sure Of $600

EDITOR'S NOTE: Few other problems in filing an income tax return cause more brow wrinkling than the question of exemptions. Here, in the third of five special articles, is a rundown on who's entitled to claim what exemptions.

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — Every taxpayer in the land is entitled to use the most lucrative of all tax-cutting devices: the $600 exemption.

Each exemption, for yourself or even for an ill-tempered mother-in-law, means you pay absolutely no tax on $600 of income. At the very least, that means a tax saving of $120.

First of all, you get a minimum of one exemption for yourself. Those who were 65 or older on or before Jan. 1, 1963, are entitled to a second exemption and still another is offered all blind taxpayers.

On a joint return, you also get an exemption for your husband or wife, and two if your mate was 65 or older.

Still more exemptions are offered for your children, members of your household (except servants) and dependent relatives. However, these people must:

1. Have received more than half their total support from you.
2. Not have filed a joint return for 1962 with their husband or wife.

3. Be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Panama or the Canal Zone. (This does not apply if an adopted alien child lives with a U.S. citizen abroad.)

4. Either have been a member of your household for the entire tax year or be related to you, or to your spouse if you file jointly.

5. Have received less than $600 total income during 1962.

There is an exception to the income limitation. If your child, stepchild or legally adopted child was under 19 for the entire tax year or was a full-time student, you can claim an exemption regardless of his or her income if the other tests are met.

A student is one enrolled full-time in an educational institution or certain on-farm training courses for at least five months during the year. In calculating whether you provided more than half the total support of a student, you can ignore the value of any scholarship aid. However, benefits paid under the GI Bill help offset your contribution.

Even if you can claim an exemption for a dependent child, it is important to note that he or she must file an income tax return if his or her income totaled

Set Mexican Highways
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico will have about 34,000 miles of all-weather highways by 1964, the government predicts.

$600 or more. In such a case, you both claim a $600 exemption—the same individual.

Relatives
Relatives who can be claimed as exemptions if they meet the requirements, even though they were not members of your household, are: mother, father, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepmother, stepfather, grandparents, grandchildren, and, if related by blood, aunt, uncle, niece or nephew.

If a dependent was born or died during 1962, you can claim a full $600 exemption if he or she met the requirements while alive.

Also, if your husband or wife died during 1962, the number of his or her personal exemptions, which may be claimed on a separate or joint return, is determined as of the date of death.

In some families, several individuals each contribute to a fund that provides more than half the support of a dependent relative, such as an aged mother or father. Even though no one person provides more than half the support, each can take a turn—in succeeding years—claiming an exemption if he provides more than 10 per cent of the dependent's support and other contributors file statements, on form 2120, that they will not claim the same exemption for the same year.

Agree On All Points

Liston-Patterson Expected To Sign

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Promoters and advisors have agreed on all points and formal contracts are expected to be signed later this week for the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight here April 4, it was reported Wednesday.

Jack Liston, Liston's advisor who has been demanding the $207,000 withheld from Liston's purse after the first fight in Chicago last September, said the matter had been resolved.

Nixon asked $85,000 cash in hand and the remainder in escrow before signing contracts for the April 4 re-match.

"We have agreed on all points,"

Tobyhanna Lawson YMCA Victors

TOBYHANNA whipped R. C. Cramer, 31-68, and Lawson trimmed Jack's Market, 24-73, in a pair of games played in the YMCA Independent Basketball League last night.

Cramer took a 13-12 first period against Tobyhanna but fell by the wayside in the second canto when they were outscored by a 10-point margin, 22-12. The second half was quite even with Tobyhanna outscoring Cramer, 24-20, in the third period while both teams battled to a 23-23 standoff in the final quarter.

Lawson took a 10-point first period lead over Jack's Market, 30-20, but then were outscored by Jack's in each of the next two quarters by margins of 20-17 and 18-13 as Lawson's lead was narrowed to a mere four points entering the final quarter, 60-56.

In the final stanza, Lawson edged up the victory as they found the range to hit the nets for 24 points while holding Jack's to 17 points.

Clay Favored Tonight, 4-1

PITTSBURGH (AP)—While conceding Cassius Marcellus Clay "has great (boxing) potential," Charley Powell sees characteristics of his wife and an actor in the unbeaten, incessantly chattering young heavyweight.

Powell, a former defensive football end for the San Francisco 49ers, tries in a 10-round Thursday night to burst the noisy bubble in which the irrepressible Cassius is floating toward a crack at Sonny Liston's crown.

Clay is a 4-1 favorite to win his 17th consecutive bout and strengthen his image as the best thing that's happened to boxing since gloves.

Still Talking
The Louisville filibusterer, just turned 21, arrived in Pittsburgh a week ago and hasn't stopped talking, but that doesn't faze Powell, once ranked the sixth best heavyweight.

"I'm a married man, and I get that all the time, so that doesn't bother me," the San Diego fighter said as he finished preparations for the match.

"It's just like acting," he continued. "An actor becomes famous in a certain type role, and he tends to play this role even when he isn't acting. He (Clay) is beginning to live this."

Actually, the effervescent Clay has appeared in one movie, "Requiem for a Heavyweight," but his speaking role was limited to about three words.

Of Clay's 16 fights, 13 have ended in knockouts. Powell has knocked out 17 of his 32 opponents while winning 23, losing six and drawing three. He has been knocked out five times.

Littler Set For Defense

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gene (The Machine) Littler opens defense of his title in the $50,000 San Francisco International Golf Open Thursday hoping the putting cog is well oiled again.

The machine sputtered the past two tournaments as Littler failed to shoot low enough to qualify for the final rounds at San Diego and in the Bing Crosby event.

He three-putted seven greens in the first round of the Crosby in carding an 11-over-par 83.

"Putting Better"
After playing his practice round over the Harding Park Municipal Course, scene of the San Francisco event, the former U.S. Open champion commented, "I'm putting better now."

He'll have to, in facing a field of 149 pros including such big names as Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Bill Casper, who already have posted 1963 victories.

Palmer won the $9,000 first prize at Los Angeles, missed the San Diego Open and then was disqualified at the Crosby when he broke a rule. That infraction also broke Palmer's consecutive in-the-money string at 47 tournaments.

Player, the South African who won here in 1961, tops the 1963 money list with $9,440 after winning at San Diego and winding up in a five-way tie for second at the Crosby.

Casper captured the Crosby by one stroke with a 285 for 72 holes and has collected $8,308 already this month.

'May Bubble Never Burst'

Aguirre Gets Dividend: $7,000 Boost In Salary

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"May the bubble never burst," said Detroit pitcher Hank Aguirre last season as his earned run average and batting average continued to drop at a rate that would have sent stock market manipulators scurrying for apple carts.

It didn't. And now the 30-year-old left-hander, who made one of the most astonishing flip-flops in the majors last year, got his dividend—a $7,000 pay boost to $25,000 when he signed his 1963 baseball contract with the Tigers.

Aguirre had a 4-4 record and a 3.27 ERA in 1961. In 1962, he underwent a complete transformation after getting his first start on May 26, and wound up with a 16-8 mark and a major league 2.21 ERA.

Credits Doctor

How does Aguirre account for the change? He gives much of the credit to team physician Dr. Russell Wright, who convinced Aguirre that a pain in his chest stemmed from a quirk in his pitching motion and had nothing to do with his heart.

"I got sick the second day of the season in 1960," says Aguirre. "I was in church when it happened. I got a pain in the chest. I thought I had a heart attack. The doctors told me I didn't, but I didn't believe them."

Corrects Hunch

Wright convinced him, and

Aguirre corrected the hitch in his pitching form and became a winner. But he still has one lament—he can't hit. He was 2-for-75 last year for a .027 average, and managed to strike out both left-handed and right-handed in the second All-Star Game.

"I don't hit the ball very often," he concedes, "but doesn't it sting your hands?"

He should ask Felipe Alou, who stung 'em quite often for National League champion San Francisco while batting .316, hitting 25 home runs and driving in 98 runs, and now is numbered as an unsatisfied customer of the Giants.

Alou said at his home in Santo Domingo that he had mailed his contract back to San Francisco unsigned. "I think I had a good season," he said, "and I think I deserve more than they offered." Reports indicate Alou wants a $12,000 boost to $30,000.

Good Season

Giants' Vice President Chub Feeney agreed that Alou had had a good season. "All I can say is that he had a good year and we offered what we considered a good raise. We will wait and see what he asks."

At Los Angeles, the mall brought the Angels' signed contracts from pitcher Bob Turley, acquired from the New York Yankees, and outfielder Ken Hunt. The Giants got one contract out of the way when Joey Amalfitano signed for a third tour with the club.

Others signing were shortstop Dick Groat of St. Louis, shortstop Julio Gattas, catcher Ron Brand and pitcher Pat Donnelly of Pittsburgh, pitcher Jim Brewer of the Chicago Cubs and pitchers Dom Zanni, Andy Rubiotta and Jim Morris and catcher Camilo Carreon of the Chicago White Sox.

Hoffman Stars
The hot-shooting Hoffman is one of the big reasons for this season's surge. The 6-5 senior co-captain from Steelton ranks among the nation's top scorers with 240 points and a 20-point average. He has connected on 105 of 221 field goal attempts—most of them his favorite one-hand jump—for a 47.5 shooting percentage.

Hoffman has things going for him besides his scoring ability. "This is a young team," says coach and Williamsport native John Egli, "and Hoffman was a fine selection as co-captain. The players respect him for his abilities on the court and look up to him as a leader on and off the court."

Young the Lions are. With senior co-captain John Mitchell sidelined because of a knee injury Hoffman and junior backcourtman Bob Donato have been the only lettermen in Egli's starting lineup.

The other starters are Tom Malincheck, a 6-6 junior transfer student from St. Vincent of Lehigh, a 6-2 backcourtman from Athens, and Ron Avillion, a skinnier 6-5 forward from Luzerne. The No. 6 and 7 men are sophomores Terry Hoover (6-6) from Monterey, Ind. and John Ludwig (5-9) from Hamburg.

Ortiz To Fight In Court?

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz says he'll go to court if the World Boxing Association interferes with his plans for title defenses in Puerto Rico and Manila.

The 26-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker told the Associated Press of his plans for a title bout in San Juan, P. R., on March 30, a non-title fight in Newark, N.J., in April and a title fight with Filipino Flash Elorde in Manila in late May.

He said he was not worried over a warning from the WBA to defend his crown against Kenney Lane of Muskegon, Mich., the No. 1 contender, or face possible loss of his crown.

"Better Offers"
"I stopped Lane the last time I fought him and I've got better offers," said Ortiz. "If the WBA makes trouble I'll go to court. I've got a lawyer to take care of me. The WBA has all kinds of rules for different people it seems. Why didn't they do anything to Floyd Patterson when he fought guys like Pete Rademacher, Roy Harris and Brian London? What's good for one champion should be good for another."

"The WBA also knows the way into court," said David Gudelsky, a member of the WBA's rating committee and chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Board of Control.

"I would advise Ortiz and his handlers to pay close attention to the WBA order that he next defend his lightweight title against Lane," said Gudelsky in Muskegon, Mich.

QUIZZED IN GRID PROBE—Rick Casares, veteran fullback of the Chicago Bears, points to headline with his statement that he passed two lie detector tests, as he poses in his Chicago apartment. Casares said he took the lie tests to clear himself of certain rumors stemming from his association with disreputable individuals. Disclosure of the tests came amid rumors of a National Football League betting scandal involving players of several NFL teams. (AP Wirephoto)

Replaced Babe Ruth GM Selkirk Still Finds Tough Jobs

IF KNOWING the ropes about front office procedure in baseball and how to size up talent on the playing field are required to produce a winner, George, (Twinkletoes) Selkirk ought to become a success in his new job.

The man who replaced Babe Ruth as a right fielder for the 1935 Yankees, however, has a rather Herculean task. He is general manager of the Washington Senators which is like being boss of the New York Mets in the other league.

Sunk In 10th

Since the former Washington team moved to Minneapolis-St. Paul for the start of the 1961 season, the Senators have been 10th in the American League.

Last year they were 35½ games back. Worse yet, they were 11½ games behind Kansas City, considered by many as a faltering franchise.

Selkirk has a two-year contract and if his popularity with contemporaries helps, Twink has a good start. Just prior to the winter meetings at Rochester, N. Y., Selkirk knew all about the tough job he and the Senators are facing for 1963. Since 1956 he has been an American League front office man.

"Detroit offered us three players in a deal," the 54-year-old GM began. "But the top man of the three hit only .228. You can't build a ball club on that kind of talent, or the kind I've seen on the draft list."

After the meetings Selkirk said: "I wish I could rave about some of our youngsters but I can't honestly put a finger on anyone who is about to make it. The rookies we have may be a year away. We will try to help the team by purchase. We can't be any worse than we were last season."

The Senators could have drafted nine players at "bargain prices" at the Rochester meetings. They had the money—and room on the roster. But Selkirk couldn't see tossing money around for players who at best might be two or three years away. Yet he did draft five players from the minor leagues for a total of $73,000.

Selkirk left a good position with the Baltimore Orioles to take over in Washington under E. R. (Pete) Quesada, the club president. Quesada gave Selkirk a free hand to make deals.

It was one of the strong reasons that prompted Selkirk to accept one of the most challenging jobs in the major leagues. However, the native of Huntsville, Ont., will consult Quesada and Manager Mickey Vernon before making any trades.

Selkirk would have liked it that way had he ever been fortunate enough to manage in the majors. He is a chap who treats others with respect.

In nine years with the Yankees, Selkirk played 846 games. He never was expected to come close to Babe Ruth's slugging feats but the handsome Selkirk proved a steady hitter. After taking over for Ruth he hit 312 in 128 games in 1935. He compiled a .293 career mark. In the 1936 World Series, his first, he hit two home runs—one off Carl Hubbell and the other off Hal Schumacher.

Remained With Yanks
After retiring as a player in 1942, Selkirk remained with the Yankees to manage their farm teams in Newark, N. J., Birmingham, N. Y., and Kansas City. In 1953 he managed Toledo and led Milwaukee's then No. 1 farm team to the American Association pennant.

Selkirk's baseball travels may be ended for some time to come. At least he hopes so. He also hopes that people will forget one of sports' oldest slogans about Washington:

First in peace, last in the American League.

Murphy Leads ESSC To 92-64 Triumph

TRENTON, N. J. — With four players hitting in double figures, the Warriors of East Stroudsburg State College last night walloped Trenton here on the Jersey court, 92-64.

John Murphy once again paced the Warrior offensive with 26 points, hitting all on field goals, as the lads of Coach Mort Hochheiser turned in their fourth win of the season and third in their last four outings.

Others who hit in double digits for the ESSC quint were Sonny Giumento with 16; John Jones with 14, and Burt Reese with 12.

For Trenton, Don Raba was high for his club with 21 tallies, while teammate Steve Black added 17 in the losing cause.

East Stroudsburg took an early lead at the very outset of the game and never trailed their Jersey opponents. Behind the sharp shooting of Murphy, who tallied 16 in the first half alone, the visiting Warriors held a 13-point halftime bulge at 49-36.

The Warriors topped the Trenton five in field goals by a 40-24 margin while displaying a flashy and well-rounded offense. Hochheiser substituted freely during the second half, sending in every boy on the bench in an effort to keep down the score.

East Stroudsburg's JV's also won the preliminary affair, 73-63.

East Stroudsburg Bows To Parkland

PARKLAND — East Stroudsburg High's swimming team went down to its fifth defeat in six meetings yesterday as the host Parkland mermen overwhelmed the charges of Coach Jack Kist, 70-16.

in the meet. He claimed the 50-yard freestyle event in 25.8, while also finishing a close second in the 100-yard freestyle.

Parkland's 200-yard relay team, consisting of Anderson, Serfass, Haines and Wagner, set a new Parkland pool record with their winning time of 1:56.4 in the very first event.

Following Spencer's first place finish in the third event of the afternoon, Parkland laid claim to seven consecutive first place finishes while adding six more second place points in that same span to notch the victory.

Penn State Set For Bucknell

UNIVERSITY PARK — Penn State, off to its best basketball start in a decade, will entertain Bucknell Saturday in the second meeting of the campaign between these schools.

The first meeting — at Lewisburg on Jan. 8 — was captured by Penn State in an 88-83 overtime thriller. That game featured a pair of brilliant individual performances by State's Earl Hoffman (30 points) and Bucknell's Lorry Hathaway (34 points) and these two are expected to hook up in another duel this Saturday.

The Nittany Lions, idle since Jan. 16 when they lost at West Virginia, will take a 9-3 record into the Bucknell battle. The current squad is off to Penn State's best start since the Jesse Amelle-led team of 1953-54 pulled away to a 10-2 record at the halfway mark, finished at 14-5, landed a berth in the NCAA playoff, and placed third in that tournament.

Hoffman Stars

The hot-shooting Hoffman is one of the big reasons for this season's surge. The 6-5 senior co-captain from Steelton ranks among the nation's top scorers with 240 points and a 20-point average. He has connected on 105 of 221 field goal attempts—most of them his favorite one-hand jump—for a 47.5 shooting percentage.

Hoffman has things going for him besides his scoring ability. "This is a young team," says coach and Williamsport native John Egli, "and Hoffman was a fine selection as co-captain. The players respect him for his abilities on the court and look up to him as a leader on and off the court."

Young the Lions are. With senior co-captain John Mitchell sidelined because of a knee injury Hoffman and junior backcourtman Bob Donato have been the only lettermen in Egli's starting lineup.

The other starters are Tom Malincheck, a 6-6 junior transfer student from St. Vincent of Lehigh, a 6-2 backcourtman from Athens, and Ron Avillion, a skinnier 6-5 forward from Luzerne. The No. 6 and 7 men are sophomores Terry Hoover (6-6) from Monterey, Ind. and John Ludwig (5-9) from Hamburg.

Ortiz To Fight In Court?

NEW YORK (AP)—Lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz says he'll go to court if the World Boxing Association interferes with his plans for title defenses in Puerto Rico and Manila.

The 26-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker told the Associated Press of his plans for a title bout in San Juan, P. R., on March 30, a non-title fight in Newark, N.J., in April and a title fight with Filipino Flash Elorde in Manila in late May.

He said he was not worried over a warning from the WBA to defend his crown against Kenney Lane of Muskegon, Mich., the No. 1 contender, or face possible loss of his crown.

"Better Offers"
"I stopped Lane the last time I fought him and I've got better offers," said Ortiz. "If the WBA makes trouble I'll go to court. I've got a lawyer to take care of me. The WBA has all kinds of rules for different people it seems. Why didn't they do anything to Floyd Patterson when he fought guys like Pete Rademacher, Roy Harris and Brian London? What's good for one champion should be good for another."

"The WBA also knows the way into court," said David Gudelsky, a member of the WBA's rating committee and chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Board of Control.

"I would advise Ortiz and his handlers to pay close attention to the WBA order that he next defend his lightweight title against Lane," said Gudelsky in Muskegon, Mich.

Ex Grid Great Ben Boynton Dies At Home

DALLAS (AP)—Ben Lee Boynton, one of the all-time great college football players, a former leader in Texas amateur golf circles and an insurance executive, died Wednesday at his home after a long illness. His age was not given.

Boynton was enshrined in football's Hall of Fame last December. He was too ill at the time to attend the New York feté, but his plaque was brought to Dallas and read to him.

A native of Waxo, Tex., where he first won athletic fame in high school, Boynton won football honors while quarterbacking for Williams College in 1917-19 and '20.

Unitas Slams Bet Charges

CHICAGO — Johnny Unitas, quarterback of the Baltimore Colts, has branded charges of gambling among players in the National Football League "a lot of baloney," Chicago's American reported.

The paper quoted Unitas, here attending the National Sporting Goods Association convention, as saying "some day I'd like to see somebody tell what good ever has been accomplished from these various probes conducted by politicians."

"They do a lot of talking in advance, but when the probe is completed nothing ever happens," Unitas said.

He related an incident "not too long ago" when he was introduced to a man whom he later was told was "the biggest gambler in Baltimore." He said the Colts' front office the following morning called to inquire if he had been "in company of a Mr. So-and-So" the night before.

"I Don't Gamble"

"Right off the bat I had trouble trying to recall the man's name, and when I did my caller asked, 'Do you know he's the biggest gambler in Baltimore?'" Unitas said. "How would I know that? I don't gamble, and I'd have no reason for knowing who the man was."

Unitas said the "thing that impressed me about the call from the Colts' office is that they know within 12 hours that I had met this person, however harmless it was, and believe me it was harmless. With this type of policing, there's nothing wrong with our game and all this talk is a lot of baloney."

An Unprecedented Renaissance

Boxing Is On A Binge In Italy

By GERALD MILLER
ROME (AP)—Like most things in the Italian economy these days boxing is booming.

Whatever the feeble state of pugilism elsewhere, in this historic land of culture the manly art of bashing is enjoying an unprecedented renaissance.

Insiders in the fight game couldn't be happier. They're packing the paying customers in. Italian fighters hold five of the eight European titles and one world crown.

In a matter of a few years boxing has rocketed from a once largely amateur affair to nearly the biggest spectator sport in the nation, second only to soccer.

What's the secret thing behind this success story?

Many Theories

No one knows for sure but theories abound. One is that since television here doesn't touch the stuff, fight fans are forced to the ticket window if they want to indulge.

Another is that planners have made the whole thing pretty attractive with elegant arenas, seemingly endless matches on a single card and an apparent knack for showing the local lad off to good advantage.

More often than not Italians are matched against foreigners who don't seem to come off so well.

Best At Home

Some unkind critics have even suggested that the best way to defeat an Italian boxer in these prosperous days is to get him out of the country. This seldom happens.

Giulio Rinaldi, for example, European light heavyweight champion and one of Italy's prides, has fought 18 of his last 19 matches at home, winning all but one before the local crowds. His only foreign appearance, in New York, brought him defeat. He lost a 15-round title decision to Archie Moore in Madison Square Garden in June, 1961.

The list of at-home victories is something to behold. Franco De Piccoli, a heavyweight, has won all 21 fights in two years.

Nino Benvenuti, a welterweight, has won all 27.

This kind of record, expectedly, has caused some pique.

Causes Pique

America's Bobo Olson, former world middleweight champion, suggested in advance of a notable fight with Rinaldi in December that perhaps there might be a British referee.

The Italian boxing federation gave him short shrift, saying that without adequate reason for distrusting the decisions of its own referees it could hardly honor such a request. The fight was judged a draw.

There has been criticism from Italian quarters as well. The day after the Olson-Rinaldi decision, Duccio Loi beat Eddie Perkins of Chicago on points, winning back the world junior welterweight title Perkins had seized from him three months before.

Sharp Outcry

The two decisions drew a sharp outcry from the Italian press.

Corriere dello Sport, the nation's biggest sports daily, headlined flatly "Rinaldi and Loi lost. It's time we ended these verdicts that do not honor us."

Another paper, Paese Sera, said "Out of the bag of Santa Claus... has come a beautiful gift for Duccio Loi, a world title."

Besides the world crown, Loi, at 33 the durable darling of Italian fans, also holds the European welterweight title.

Other Champs

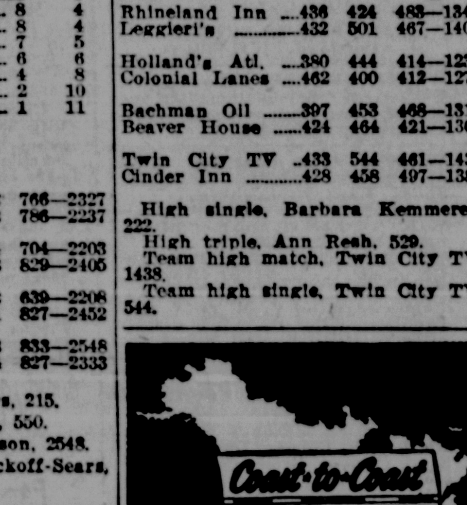

Italy's other European champions are Salvatore Burrard, lightweight; Piero Rollo, bantamweight; and Alberto Serti, featherweight.

One factor nobody discounts in the development of the boxing boom is the role played by the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

Green Thumb

House Plants, Landscaping

By George Abraham

A GOOD HOUSE PLANT: When you get a house plant that's showy and dependable and holds up well under overhead home conditions, that's really news. Such an item is the Kalanchoe (pronounced Kal-en-koh-ee) a showy plant that florists sell like hot cakes.

Kalanchoe has Christmas red flowers with shiny green foliage and the flowers last for several weeks before becoming unsightly. If you want to provide your friends with a different gift next Christmas, sow seed of Kalanchoe in February, and by December the plants will be in color and shape for the holiday season.

A good variety is Vulcan, having large and more brightly colored flowers than the old variety Tom Thumb.

Here's a trick florists use in fall to get five-inch blooming plants for Christmas. Keep it in a dark room (they use black cloth for shading) from September 1 to September 21, starting at 5:00 at night to 8:00 a.m. Sow the seed in a sand-peat mixture and keep in a room temperature between 65-75 degrees. Seeds germinate in 1 to 2 weeks.

AFRICAN VIOLETS: I've been receiving some warm letters about boiling water for African Violets.

One reader writes: "For years hot water for our African Violets and they almost talk to you the way they respond to this treatment. I use dry pots and every Monday morning I place them in trays or very hot water, half way up the pot for twenty minutes. The leaves and flowers perk up."

"Never pour hot water in the pot, as this would kill the plants. For baby violets I start with tepid water for about 2 months, then switch to hot water. Some of my friends who have had trouble growing violets now have wonderful success with the hot water treatment."

FOUR O'CLOCKS: Got a poor soil where you'd like a splash of color? Then try growing Four O'Clocks, or Marvel of Peru (Mandrill). They not only live in a poor dry soil but also make a good quick-growing flower in a foundation planting.

Seed can be sown outdoors (after frost) and they'll bloom the first summer. You can get flowers in bright shades of pink, salmon, red, yellow and white, all growing 3 ft. Where does Four O'Clocks get its name? They open late in the afternoon.

DUMB CANE: What's the best way to handle a Dieffenbachia (Dumb Cane) which has grown too tall? The simplest thing to do is cut the top back and root it in a soil of peat moss and perlite. A couple pieces of charcoal. Keep it out of direct sun and in a room with temperature of 70 degrees or better. This item likes it warm. Below 60 the leaves will turn yellow.

HOME LANDSCAPING: Moving into a new house? Wondering what you should do to dress up the outside? This is a common problem these days. New homeowners probably find themselves faced with the job of doing the lawn plus planting the shrubs. If you're budgeted, tackle the lawn first. Get that started so you won't have a dust bowl or a swamp in front. If money is no problem, then you'll want to do both the lawn and planting as early as possible.

If both jobs are to be done, plant the bushes first so you won't have to walk over a newly seeded area. After that you can work on the lawn.

Right now your landscaping should be in the drawing board stage. You don't have to be a fancy artist to sketch a plan. It's not that complicated.

The front of your house is the most important since more people see this than the back. So your first job is to measure off in feet, the width of the front section of your home. Then sketch it as you see that section from the street, including entrance, corners, windows and blank spaces between the windows.

Now your next job is to fit in shrubs at the corners, under windows, and in front of the bare spaces between the windows. To do this, keep these simple facts in mind: (1) Place low growing shrubs under windows. Never plant a tall growing shrub in front of your window as it will obstruct the view. (2) Corners are softened with tall growing shrubs, rather than squat ones. (3) Place two upright shrubs, one on each side of the entrance way. This gives you the basic plan.

If your money permits you should add extra plantings. That is, add two spreading types in front of the upright types on corners or at the entrance.

You sketch this out on the paper and get a good idea what the finished planting would look like. Allow at least three to four feet between each plant, and make sure each shrub is at least three feet from the foundation of the home. Next week: More tips on "how-to-do-it-yourself" landscaping.

The Daily Investor

Called Debentures

Q. I owned some debentures issued by a well-known company. Those debentures were called for redemption last year. But I did not learn about that development for almost 10 months. I had neglected to clip the interest coupon. As a result, I had $5,100 idle for 10 months.

I feel that the broker through whom I purchased the debentures had a responsibility to notify me that they had been called before the normal maturity date. The broker says he met his responsibility when he informed me, at the time I purchased the debentures, that they might be called for redemption at any time.

What is your opinion on this?

A. I must go along with the broker on this one.

A debenture is a type of debt security. Debentures are a method of borrowing money. The "issuer" (in this case a well-known company) sells the debentures.

The company was pledged to pay interest at a fixed annual rate to the holders of the debentures and to pay off the debentures (repay the debt) at the end of a certain period at the "maturity date."

However, most debentures and other debt securities have "call provisions." That meant that the company had the right to pay off its debt before the maturity date.

It's clear that you took possession of the debentures you bought. It was up to you to keep tabs on whether or not the debentures had been called for redemption.

It is also obvious that the debentures were in "bearer form," so that there was no record of your ownership on the books of the company. If your debentures had been in "registered form," you would have been notified of the call for redemption either by the company or the trustee for the debenture issue.

For the average investor it can be quite difficult to keep up with what debt securities have been called for redemption. You must read the financial pages of the newspapers and various financial publications quite closely.

That's why many people leave such securities with banks and brokers. The banks and brokers will clip interest coupons, credit customers' accounts and watch for such things as calls for redemptions. Normally you pay a fee for that service.

If you had left your debentures with your broker he most certainly would have had a responsibility to notify you of the call for redemption.

Q. Does a debenture or other type of debt security, such as a mortgage bond, stop paying interest if it is called for redemption before its normal maturity date?

A. It most certainly does. At maturity or at any earlier redemption date, the issuer of a debt security pays off the debt represented by that security and no longer pays any interest on that debt.

Q. Does it really matter if I don't clip and cash interest coupons on bonds, debentures, etc., on the dates those coupons are due? Can't I cash them later?

A. Assuming that the securities involved haven't been called for redemption and that each coupon is still good for an interest payment—yes, you can cash them later.

But you would be more than lazy. The money you would be due to receive would remain idle.

When you clip interest coupons as they come due, you get your interest money. It's available for your use. You can at least put it to work earning more money.

Short Term Notes Decrease

NEW YORK (AP)—The volume of short-term notes issued by businesses for cash needs went down in December but was still far higher than a year ago, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported yesterday.

The bank said the monthly total of commercial paper outstanding declined $1,109,000,000 or 16 per cent, to $5,961,000,000.
